Duty to Make a Fair Presentation of Risk

The Insurance Act 2015 (which came into effect on 12th August 2016) is designed to provide a fairer and more transparent framework for Commercial Insurance going forwards. It nevertheless imposes an obligation on all policyholders to "make a fair presentation of the risk" prior to the policy commencing. A fair presentation is one that discloses, in a manner that is reasonably clear and accessible, every material circumstance which is known or ought to be known by the policyholder's senior management, or those responsible for arranging insurance, following a reasonable search. In addition, a fair presentation will provide sufficient information to put a prudent insurer on notice that it needs to make further enquires to reveal those material circumstances.

Failure to disclose any material information to your Insurers could invalidate your insurance cover and mean that part or all of a claim may not be paid. This duty applies equally when you take out a policy, any changes in your circumstances during the insurance year and when you renew your insurance. We may also use appropriate background information regarding your business that we as your Broker, genuinely hold where this may be considered "material".

Please discuss with us if you have any doubts about what is material or have any concerns that we may not be aware of material information in order to provide a Fair Presentation.

We will provide you with details of the costs of each insurance product or service we are offering. In addition to the premiums charged by Insurers, we may also make charges to cover the administration of your insurance. Any specific charge and its purpose will always be advised to you in advance. We may also receive remuneration from Insurers with whom we place volume business and from Premium Finance companies where we arrange credit on your behalf. If not done so already, we will always disclose our commission earnings to you on request – feel free to ask at any time. Other forms of remuneration cannot be apportioned to any particular risk but we will always disclose the basis of the calculation to you on request.
